

GREEN ACRES MEETS PARIS

VANESSA H. WOOD

FASHION AND LIFESTYLE BLOGGER

Green Acres Meets Paris is a fashion, beauty and lifestyle blog, which I started in January 2012 as a way to show off the antique dress form I received for Christmas in December of the previous year. Just like Eva Gabor's character, Lisa, in the classic TV show "Green Acres", I'm a city girl living my best life in the East Tennessee countryside with my country boy husband, our two dogs, three cats, a special needs goat, and a miniature horse. I love fashion, beauty, and travel, and I write about the things that inspire my style and my GAMP lifestyle. I am a Registered Medical Assistant by day, and blogger by night.

STORY OF MY BLOG

Green Acres Meets Paris was created to inspire others as I shared my love of fashion and style.

My blog is an eclectic mix of fashion, style, and beauty, travel inspiration, as well as celebrity style, and more.

Special features include: "Links I Love", "Man of Style", "Women of Style", "Celebrity Dinner Party", and "Steal Her Style."
